

Dampak Globalisasi Terhadap Perdagangan
Dan Keuangan Internasional
Hendra Maujana S

Abstraksi

Globalization is an unavoidable phenomenon for any country that always keeps abreast with the latest development and the dynamic of international world. At certain extent, globalization has impacts and implications felt by those countries. With th intrusion of globalization which is highly difficult to be controlled, all countries are axpected to be on alert to face it with all accompanying risks. At international finance and trade level, globalization functions and is underpinned by the presence of International institutions lik WTO and IMF in which developed countries may benefit from it while underdeveloped countries are confronted with difficulties to run after.

Kata kunci : Globalization, Anti Globalization, Central and Peripheral States.